Battleship 'Mighty Mo' Freed from Mud of Chesapeake Bay

Confession Made by Veteran While Pinned in Car Wreck Then Shoots Himself in Head

DANVILLE, Va., Feb. 1—(P)—A war veteran, his artificial legs pinned under his wrecked automobile on a rain-soaked roadside, made a "confession" to a newspaperman early today, then fatally shot himself. He "confessed" of lying about a fellow soldier during World War Two.

The man told the reporter he was Andrew Louis Blasko, 25, of Entress, route one, near Norfolk. State Trooper James Hughes later established his identity through papers on the body, the automobile registration and other means.

"It was weird," the trooper said. "The poor fellow was lying there in the darkness, with rain pouring down, babbling out his confession with a cocked .22 revolver poised at his forehead for nearly an hour. Nearly 50 people had gathered—but we were all helpless.

"Finally Blasko said, 'Well—one—two—three,' fired and fell over, to be dead in a matter of seconds," the officer related.

Confession Made
But before the end, Blasko held others back with threats while calling for any newsman present to come forward to get "a confession."

John Tate, photographer for the Danville Bee, went to within arms length, knelt and scribbled notes as the man talked.

Hughes was within earshot and verified Tate's account of the conversation.

"He told me that during World War II in Germany he told lies on a Sgt. Jack Lemons, whom he thought was from Norfolk but now living in Florida. Blasko added: 'I want to clear him before I kill myself.'"

"Somewhat unsteadily Blasko said at different times: 'I said that Sgt. Lemons flogged some German prisoners, that he stole a jeep load of cognac, and that he ran out on our platoon when 13 of us were captured—none of 'that is true.'"

Tate handed the notes across to the man who scribbled his name—the gun still poised. The photographer then held out his lighter for Blasko to light a cigarette. The man had smoked two others earlier but his matches had become drenched by the rain at this time.

Pleas Laughed Off
The photographer kept up a conversation of incidental things. At one time Tate suggested that

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Those robins are still here and are increasing in numbers. I saw one during the sleet storm Tuesday. He did not like the weather very much but was making the best of the situation.

Mrs. Edward Sward, 515 Gibbs Avenue, saw a robin red breast at her home early Wednesday. Numerous others have also reported one or more robins during the past two months.

Don't forget Thursday is "ground hog day." Also remember that one groundhog has been seen prowling near his den, during the past few weeks.

Fancy a snake crawling about in the slush on January 31?

I have evidence of this in a box left in the office by Roy Dickerson, Lakeview Avenue, who found a 20-inch gartersnake crawling across Elm Street.

The snake was not moving very fast, and was covered with mud. I guess Roy must have given the reptile a blow on the head before sending it to the office, for the snake was not showing a great deal of life. When picked up by the neck, it raised objections at once.

I found a surprisingly large number of the office folks, like a host of others, have a decided aversion to being near a snake, even if it is a little, harmless gartersnake.

Now I am wondering how I am going to dispose of that harmless little reptile without killing it.

Capt. William D. Brown

Elaborate Watch For Groundhog Is Set Up Near Home

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., Feb. 1—(P)—If you've been perturbed by the on-again-off-again winter weather, take heart—you have only until tomorrow to worry.

That is, if you're willing to accept without question the report of the Quarryville Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs.

Tomorrow the lodge members, regaled in night shirts and high silk hats, will receive what they consider the ultimate in prognostication: the prediction of the groundhog.

If the furry 'chuck steps out of his hole and spies his shadow, brr! That means six more weeks of winter (if you've had any winter up to now). If he doesn't see his shadow, toss away those red flannels. Spring is here.

The lodge scouts are taking all sorts of precautions this year. They're going to use walky-talkies to wigwag their findings back to headquarters. If they fail, they'll have to rely on the older forms of communications, the smoke signal.

Telephone Workers Want CIO Union

CLEVELAND, Feb. 1—(P)—The CIO Communications Workers of America today held sole bargaining rights for a statewide unit of more than 14,000 Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employees, pending federal certification.

The National Labor Relations Board announced the election results yesterday.

The CIO Union received 58 per cent of 12,984 valid ballots cast by Ohio Bell employees against a little over 31 per cent for the Southwestern Ohio telephone workers, an AFL affiliate.

Rocky Fork Dam Arguments Laid Before House Committee

BY G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(P)—Rep. Polk (D-Ohio) has presented to Congress the clashing views of both friends and foes of a proposed flood control reservoir on Rocky Fork Creek in Ohio.

The Ohioan—once an ardent advocate of the project—gave both sides of the question but this time offered no specific recommendation of his own.

A House appropriations subcommittee today made public Polk's testimony on the issue. The committee heard witnesses in closed session.

Polk submitted a letter from the Pike County engineers contending "we need this reservoir for flood control," a petition from Portsmouth city and chamber of commerce officials endorsing it, and a statement from Highland County groups and individuals denouncing it as wasteful and not essential.

The congressman said "I know your committee will give full consideration to the arguments for and against" the project.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 1—(P)—The Mighty Mo broke her bonds with the bottom of Chesapeake Bay today and floated free and safe into deep water off Thimble Shoal.

She yielded finally to a salvage team of tugs, high tide, northeast wind and straining winches after two weeks of forlorn helplessness aground.

Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith, who quarterbacked the straining effort to free the 45,000-ton battleship, sent a message at 7:30 A. M. that took the blush of embarrassment off the face of the fleet:

"Missouri reports for duty."

The message went to Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, Atlantic fleet commander, and it was a perfect going-away present. Blandy retires from the navy today and is turning over his command to Admiral William M. Fechteler.

As she slipped astern sternward orders were given to take soundings along the half mile of water back to the safe deep channel. Dredges had been working to clear a path for her.

Navy men afloat and ashore greeted the news with whoops. Once more the Missouri was the fleet's pride instead of a thorn in the fleet's side.

The big Mo, a stricken 45,000-ton giant since she strayed from the buoy-marked ship channel January 17 and went aground, was moved cautiously from the moment she finally floated. The navy put the official time at 7:16 A. M., but movement astern was plainly perceptible minutes before. It was an ideal day for the navy to float the battleship and shed its big embarrassment.

Fresh northeast winds whipped Chesapeake Bay and brought white caps that ran to four or five feet. A tide of an anticipated 2.6 feet was pushed higher by the wind and the navy had managed to secure a fifth and sixth pontoon under her stern before the seas became choppy.

Her two big bow anchors had been removed. Four hundred tons of fresh water had been pumped out and her bow rode higher.

Three destroyers standing by to race around and create artificial sweeps were not used.

At the zero hour of 7:30 Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith, salvage chief, sent the terse message that gave retiring Admiral Blandy his going-away present:

"Missouri reports for duty." The ship that has been both the navy's pride and persecution, was warped out into safe water for a trip to the navy yard at Portsmouth for dry docking and inspection. Her sister ship, the unfinished Kentucky, was moved out so the Missouri could be accommodated.

DEADLY H-BOMB AUTHORIZED

Train Wreck Blocks Two Streets Here

Court Street and Dayton Avenue both were blocked and traffic on the B & O and D T & I railroads was tied up Wednesday afternoon when a cut of cars on the B & O crashed into the mid-section of a D T & I freight train at the Dayton Avenue crossing.

The crash occurred a little after 1 P. M. and there was no indication when the jam could be broken. Everything—on both highway and railroad—was still in a tangle an hour after the accident.

The B & O freight car toppled over on the watchman's shanty at the Dayton Avenue crossing, but no one was in it at the time.

When the cut of B & O cars smashed into the D T & I train, the engine was about 16 cars beyond the crossing. The rest of the train had not yet cleared the Court Street crossing.

Because the switches were in the middle of the tangle, there was no way for the D T & I engine to get back to the rear of its train to pull it free from the wreck and clear Court Street to traffic again.

To get the D T & I train off of the Court Street crossing appeared to be the first objective of railroad officials. But, they were making little progress.

Crowds gathered at the Union Station to watch the goings-on while Dayton Avenue traffic was detoured over Millikan Avenue and Court Street traffic was sent around over Circle Avenue.

Railroad officials blamed "a mixup in signals" for the trouble.

Britain Irks U. S. By Oil Restriction

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the British government decided on restricting American oil companies in Britain "without adequate conference" with the companies concerned.

Acheson told a news conference the United States views the British action with "serious concern." He added that the state department plans to press discussions looking to a solution of the problem.

The U. S. national petroleum council made public yesterday a letter written by the British colonial secretary disclosing plans to extend an embargo on dollar oil imports throughout the British commonwealth and the sterling area.

Heat Is Put on Lewis and Union By Government

Unfair Practices Charged by NLRB As Case in Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(P)—The government today argued to a federal court that current coal strikes and slow downs are unfair labor practices. It asked the court to order John L. Lewis and his miners to stop these tactics.

The case is that brought by Robert Denham, National Labor Relations Board counsel.

President Truman has said that Denham acted on his own, but had advised the White House of his intentions.

Mr. Truman since has moved into the coal situation on his own, but along far different lines. He asked yesterday for a 70-day truce while fact-finders look into the dispute that had disrupted production for months.

No Replies Yet

Neither Lewis, nor the operators had yet replied to Mr. Truman's proposal. He asked an answer by 5 P. M. (EST) Saturday.

Dominick Manoli, counsel for the National Labor Relations Board, opened the argument before Federal District Judge Richmond B. Keech in Denham's case.

Manoli started off by offering a score of exhibits. Heading the list was last week's report from James Boyd, director of the Bureau of Mines, stating that a national crisis exists or shortly will exist unless normal coal output is restored.

The complaint is based on operator charges that in decreeing a three-day work week in the mines, Lewis and the UMW were trying to bring pressure to force an illegal contract and were not bargaining collectively.

There was some speculation in advance that the court might decide in favor of Lewis since Lewis is to renew contract negotiations with northern and western operators later today.

The miners and the operators meanwhile showed no great haste about replying to Mr. Truman's proposal—sidestepping the Taft-Hartley Law that Lewis detests—that the disputants submit their cases to a presidential fact-finding board.

Liquor License Curbs are Urged

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—(P)—If Gov. Frank J. Lausche has his way, no liquor licenses will be issued from Nov. 1 or regular state election years until Jan. 16 of the following year.

The period covers the time just before the election until after the winners have taken the oaths of office.

Complaints have been made that outgoing administrations have issued a flood of licenses. The Republican state administration taking office in 1947 declared a "flood of liquor licenses" was issued when Lausche ended his first term as governor. At the time Lausche said he had issued strict orders against it.

Some of the opinion samplers, mostly young girls, distributed leaflets headed: "Fired on false pretensions."

A poll in the Newark office showed 2,393 thought the falsies a proper gift. Only 37 said the firing was justified.

tional Guard, with headquarters in the Armory in Washington, D. C.

Orders promoting Finley were received here last week, and announcement of his appointment made today by Capt. Darrell Williams, former company commander who has been elevated to the battalion staff of the 166th Infantry regiment, which has its headquarters in Portsmouth.

Williams moves up to his new post after a period of about 15 months service with the National Guard unit here. He served for six years with the U. S. Army during World War II, doing stretches of occupational duty both in the European and Asiatic theatres. While with the army, he held the rank of captain.

Finley is married. He is a long-time resident of Fayette County. At the present time he is employed as a draftsman with the Fayette County engineer's office.

Before his promotion 1st Lt. Finley served as platoon leader of Company M.

Williams commanded the local National Guard unit since its reactivation following World War II. The unit boasts a membership of 75 at the present time.

January Is Abnormal With Heat and Rain

Rainfall reached 9.10 inches and the temperature average was 12.77 degrees above normal in January, as shown by the monthly summary compiled by Coyt A. Stookey, U. S. weather observer for this district.

The month shattered at least two records: one for abnormally high temperature and another for having 24 rainy days and every day classified as cloudy or partly cloudy. The rainfall was one of the heaviest for the month on record here.

Normal rainfall is 3.24 inches for the month, and the excess for the past month was 5.86 inches.

Rain fell on 24 days, with the greatest precipitation reaching 1.60 inches, during one day early in the month.

The average temperature for the month was 40.17 inches, compared with a normal of 30.84 inches, the summary shows.

Mean maximum temperature was 49.5 degrees and the mean minimum was 30.84 degrees.

At no time during the month did the mercury drop below 14 degrees. The maximum was 74 on January 25.

The fact that not a clear day was recorded for the entire month, made the record most unusual.

Pronounced fluctuation in the flow of the streams in the county, was recorded eight times, as heavy rainfall sent the streams over their banks.

Several small towns in northeast Texas were cut off from the rest of the country Wednesday—except by short wave radio—following heavy rain.

Auto Registrar Resigns, Feb. 15

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—(P)—Frank M. Quinn, state registrar of motor vehicles, resigned today effective Feb. 15, Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced.

Quinn conferred with the governor earlier today.

From his conference with Lausche, Quinn went to the secretary of state's office and filed petitions to qualify as candidate for the Democratic nomination as state treasurer.

His petitions bore 4706 names from 88 counties.

Governor Lausche said a few days ago that any of his appointees seeking an elective state or federal office must resign.

Decision Made By President Is Given Support

Aerial Guard Line Thrown Up Around Production Areas

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(P)—The United States is going ahead full blast on development of a hydrogen super bomb in an obvious effort to win the atomic arms race with Russia.

Only an agreement which would bar atomic weapons in all countries, including Russia, under a tight system of international controls, can now banish this prospective weapon from American arsenals.

The state department is reviewing American policy on international controls—reportedly including the possibility of a new approach to Russia—but whether anything will come of such studies remains to be seen.

The decision to go ahead with work on the hydrogen bomb, expected to be vastly more destructive than the original A-bomb, was announced by President Truman yesterday. He said he had reached his conclusion under his "responsibility as commander in chief of the armed forces to see to it that our country is able to defend itself against any possible aggressor."

Green Light On

"Accordingly," the president said "I have directed the Atomic Energy Commission to continue its work on all forms of atomic weapons, including the so-called hydrogen or super bomb."

"Like all other work in the field of atomic weapons, it is being and will be carried forward on a basis consistent with the over-all objective of our program for peace and security."

Yesterday the air force announced it was putting into effect a strict aerial guard line around all the major atomic plants. All planes coming within 100 miles of atomic plants in Tennessee, New Mexico and Washington state must file flight plans with defense authorities. A similar rule covers the Atlantic coastal region from Norfolk to Maine.

The idea is to protect against surprise air raids. Fighter planes will be used to back up the new order.

The defense department said the plan is "not related to any specific international development."

Mr. Truman's fateful decision was greeted with general approval in Congress, where it has been anticipated as a defense measure.

One Complaint

But, Rep. Cole (R-NY), a member of the atomic committee, disapproved sharply. He said Mr. Truman had usurped the authority of Congress and that the very security of mankind was at stake.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio)—"I think the chance of obtaining any workable international control is very remote, indeed."

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio)—"I'm quite confident that is the only judgment the president could and would come to. You can't stop progress in this field."

The decision of the president was accepted without surprise at the United Nations in New York.

Russia had nothing to say for the moment. Two American Communist leaders, party chairman William Z. Foster and secretary Eugene Dennis, protested. They telegraphed Mr. Truman from New York that "this step x x x was not preceded by sincere international negotiation for outlawing and destroying atomic weapons. It thus belies your professed intention of seeking peace."

Some U. N. diplomats speculated that the H-bomb announcement might impel the Russians to come

The Nation Today

BY CHARLES MOLONY

(For James Marlow)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 —(AP)—Farmers and employers come up to some tax deadlines today.

Farmers who didn't file declarations (estimates) of 1949 income tax by January 15 must file final returns and pay up in full by midnight tonight. There's a penalty if they don't.

But farmers who sent declarations in up to January 15, can, if they choose, wait as late as March 15 to pay up — just like all other individual taxpayers.

Of course any taxpayer who expects a refund will find it advantageous to file his final 1949 income tax return early.

The only way to establish that you've got a refund coming is to file a final return, thereby showing how much you've overpaid the total tax due.

The quicker you do so, the quicker you are likely to receive your refund. A half-million taxpayers already have gotten their refunds on 1949 taxes, averaging about $47 each.

Usually some 30,000,000 or about three out of five taxpayers get a refund, most of them wage and salary earners from whom more has been withheld than they actually owe.

Many employees have been delaying their final 1949 income tax returns awaiting receipts from their employers of forms W-2, which show how much pay workers got and how much tax was withheld last year.

Today is the deadline for employers to give their workers the W-2 forms.

Employers have a couple of other tax duties that must be discharged before midnight tonight:

1. To file their annual returns (Form 940 to the federal government on unemployment insurance tax, and to pay the federal share of that tax. It usually comes to 3-10 of one percent of their payrolls.

2. To file returns, and turn over the money, on income tax (Form W-1) and old age insurance tax (Form SS-1A) withheld from workers for October, November and December, 1949.

This will mark the last time employers will have to make separate returns on income tax withholding and old age insurance taxes.

It also will be their last payments at the 1949 old age insurance rate of 1 per cent each for employers and employees, on wages up to $3,000 a year.

Next time they make the quarterly withholding returns, which will be April 30, employers will use a single form (941) combining both reports.

And on old age insurance payments, they'll be turning over 1½ per cent each for themselves and workers — or 50 per cent more than they've had to turn over so far.

Wage earners who have had a pay check since 1950 began already have been nicked at the higher old age insurance rate, giving employers a start on the collections they'll have to turn in three months hence.

Police Chief Warns against Winter Hazards

'Take Your Time in Wintertime' Slogan Is Announced

Police Chief Valden Long today called upon motorists and pedestrians to be especially on their guard at this time of the year when traffic hazards are increased by hazardous winter conditions such as sleet and snow.

"This is a dangerous time of the year to drive or walk," he pointed out. "Fewer hours of daylight, the prevalence of ice-coated streets, the frequent snowfalls and other factors, such as murky weather, help to make the winter months hazardous for those behind the wheel or on foot."

To combat these adverse conditions Chief Long recommended that motorists redouble their caution and drive slowly when the streets are slippery from rain, sleet or snow. He further recommended that drivers avoid warming up their cars in closed garages, as carbon monoxide poisoning is dangerous.

"We must bear in mind," Chief Long said, "that brakes applied suddenly on a slippery pavement may cause dangerous skidding. So apply them gradually, driving slowly enough so they won't grab. Lowered speed is essential to traffic safety in slippery weather."

"Pedestrians too must remember that drivers have more difficulty in operating their cars in bad weather and should cross only at intersections—and then only when the way is clear."

"Take your time in wintertime," he added.

NEW YORK —(AP)—Trap nests, in which a hen can enter alone but unable to leave without help, are widely used in the egg industry. Trapping a hen enables the owner to keep an accurate check not only on the number of eggs she lays, but also helps to keep closer track of non-layers. Hens used in trap-nesting usually leg-band identification numbers.

Vo-Ag Teacher To Put 'Book Larning' To Work

David H. Carr, vocational agriculture instructor in Champaign County for 13 years, plans to start putting his theories to practice on his parents' 130-acre farm three miles west of Washington C. H. on the Dayton Pike.

Carr resigned Monday as the vo-ag instructor at Jackson Township school (Champaign County). He will be in charge of the actual management of the Carr farm. His father, N. L.

Carr, plans to turn over all the farming operations to his son.

David intends to specialize in poultry (broilers) and swine production.

During his 13 years Carr taught in Champaign County schools, his classes averaged about 16 farm boys. Nine of these years were spent at Jackson Township school and the remaining four at Urbana Local.

Jeff Basketeers Guests of Girls At Dinner Party

The girls of Jeffersonville High School's home economics classes entertained the boys of the school's basketball squad and their guests for dinner in the home economics room, Tuesday evening.

It was not an annual affair; it was just the girls' way of showing their appreciation to the basketeers and evidence of their support. It does not take the place of the traditional basketball banquet, which comes later in the season.

The girls, under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Pauline Thomas, were the hostesses from the kitchen to the receiving line at the door.

Since the dinner was for the members of the cage squads and

There was no speeches; the entire evening was strictly informal, although well planned.

The Spanish Question Arouses Critics

The bitter critics of the Franco government in Spain are not pleased by the announcement that the United States is prepared to support a move to rescind the United Nations resolution against full diplomatic relations with Spain. Many others believe, however, that this is a step toward a more sane attitude on relations with Spain, and possibly other nations as well.

In a diplomatic understatement, Secretary of State Dean Acheson has said that the United Nations resolution calling on all members to withdraw ambassadors and ministers from Spain, was a "mistake". Some say it was more than a mistake. It betrayed a lack of understanding of the nature and traditional role of formal relations between nations.

Recognition by one government of another is an acknowledgement that the government appears to be in control of its nation and capable of maintaining order. It is nothing more. The maintenance of formal exchange of ambassadors or ministers and other representatives is a means of keeping open channels of peaceable intercourse between the two governments. Neither recognition nor diplomatic exchange implies approval of the character of another government, the means by which it came to power or the methods used to stay in power.

A return to that historic interpretation and usage of international recognition and diplomatic exchange might help to clear the air around some of our problems of international relations. And it might simplify the tangled confusion of our foreign policy.

Coal From England

Here is a bit of news that should be of interest to the coal miners of the country, and to everyone else.

In 1947, we shipped over 675,000 tons of coal to England. But things seem to have changed remarkably. A press dispatch says that a Boston coal company is awaiting the first shipment of British coal in some years. The president of the company said that it was ordered, from Welch mines, "to bolster reserves depleted by work stoppages in American coal mines."

There can be no question who is responsible for those stoppages. Every one of them was ordered by John L. Lewis. The mine operators want to get the coal out. Certainly, the miners want to keep their earning power, instead of working only three-days a week or no days a week. Industries and retail dealers need coal, and their stocks are dangerously low in some cases. But Mr. Lewis, who is determined to dictate to the coal industry and to the miners, has said no.

The losses to the miners are huge—1949 shutdowns are estimated to have cost each miner something like $1200. And future losses are incalculable. If coal is unobtainable, or if the price is too high, users, particularly the big commercial ones, will turn to other fuels with which coal must compete. So jobs are lost and coal's rightful place in our economy is undermined.

The New York City automobile show displayed examples of cars from fifty years ago, leading visitors to speculate what an auto show fifty years hence will offer, or whether autos will then have been replaced by planes. If we don't stop trying to fly them without wings we may never find out.

The rocks and bottles found lately in the stomach of a zoo crocodile merely illustrate again the ancient observance that there is no accounting for tastes.

Diet and Health Infection Is Danger When Burn Severe

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE treatment of severe burns is largely aimed at preventing infection of raw surfaces whose protective covering of skin has been destroyed. Many methods have been devised for this purpose, but experience proves that complete sterilization of the burned area is practically impossible. Even when penicillin applications are used, the burned surface still becomes contaminated with germs from the air.

One treatment of burns has been to put the patient into a continuous bath for twenty-four hours a day. Coating the wound with tannic acid to coagulate the tissues has been found helpful, but there is some risk in this form of treatment.

Less Severe Burns

A more practical treatment, which has been employed not alone for less severe burns but also for more extensive ones, consists in using a mixture of eucalyptus oil and liquid paraffin. A number of thicknesses of gauze is dipped into this liquid until the gauze is thoroughly wet. It is then applied to the whole damaged area and a bandage put over it. This bandage is left in place for at least a week.

One of the most painful things about burns is the changing of the dressings. Hence, when a bandage is left on for a week, much of this pain is eliminated.

It would appear that this type of treatment produces conditions which are unfavorable to the growth of germs. Because the dressing is oily, it does not become tightly fixed to the wound surfaces and can easily be removed when the time for changing occurs.

This dressing has been used for many years in all degrees of burns and appears to be a satisfactory method of treatment.

Adding one of the sulfonamide drugs or penicillin to this dressing has not improved results; hence such additions are unnecessary.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Reader: What would cause chills, dizziness, and nervousness before a menstrual period?

Answer: It is impossible to tell the cause of these symptoms without a careful study. It might be due to an infection, possibly to some allergy or sensitivity. Some type of glandular trouble, or a nervous disorder also might be responsible.

Until the cause is found, proper treatment could not be advised.

Should the Gorilla Be Educated

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK —(AP)—The late Arthur Brisbane used to contend that if you sat a couple of apes down at two typewriters they eventually would write all the books in the British museum. So far, this remains only a theory. No one yet has managed to keep an ape interested in a typewriter long enough to write even a short story for the Saturday Evening Post.

There is an interesting experiment going on at the San Diego zoo, though, that may in time afford an opportunity to see if Brisbane was right.

Three young gorillas are getting a chance to see if they can understand a college professor. The gorillas — Albert, Bata and Douba — come from Africa. The professors, Dr. Robert M. Yerkes, comes from Yale, and he is a renowned authority on anthropoid apes.

The little gorillas are anthropoid apes, but they don't know this yet. If Dr. Yerkes has his way, however, they will find out — and what will happen then is anybody's guess.

The professor hopes to teach Albert, Bata and Douba to talk.

If he is successful, they will be the first gorillas in history to employ the English language. Until now gorillas have been able to get anything they wanted out of life by grunting or grabbing. But from here on in any gorilla that really wants to get ahead in the zoo will have to be able to make a public speech.

Somehow the whole experiment seems a bit unfair to the gorillas, who, if they were human, would still be wearing diapers. All are a year or under in age, too young really for kindergarten.

And what have they got to gain by learning to talk? Getting right down to the blunt truth, what have captive gorillas got to discuss?

Suppose all three gorillas turn out to be mental wizards. I still can see nothing but trouble ahead for them. If Albert learns to spell "Africa" at the age of 3, won't he at 12 be asking if he can't go to Yale and become the first gorilla to win a college degree? Boy, what a halfback he'd be — he'd make Frank Merriwell look like a monkey.

But the chances are that no matter how educated Albert and his two pals become, their only campus would remain a locked cage. Even if they learned to shave and wear clothing it wouldn't get them freedom. People still have a prejudice against letting a gorilla run around loose, even if he can work problems in algebra.

And what would happen to the San Diego zoo then? There would be no discipline. Albert, Bata and Douba would spend their time drafting petitions demanding equal rights for gorillas or complaining about the quality of the bananas. And they would make ill-natured remarks about the visitors and the ancestry of the visitors. They would take up swearing.

The reason people go to a zoo now is because the animals don't talk. No man could help but feel he was lowering himself by losing a long verbal argument with a logical gorilla. After a while nobody would come to the zoo.

Even if Albert and his buddies get smart enough to dictate books by the dozens I think they shouldn't. Reading a gorilla's memoirs would only make everybody sad.

No, language alone won't bridge the gulf between gorilla and man. All the knowledge in the world won't make Albert happy. And if he is as wise as a gorilla as I think he is he will tell Dr. Yerkes, "No, thanks, professor"—and remain a normal ape.

The Complexities of Liberalism

By George E. Sokolsky

People have a way, these days of lumping all professors together and making of them a congregation of political, economic and social crackpots. Then they send their children to these same professors to be educated, which does not speak well for the logic of the aforesaid complainers.

So I call to witness one Bruce W. Knight, professor of economics at Dartmouth, as a sound thinker in the field and I offer you the following example of his wisdom, which I think is of the best. He is often asked by his students what the "great issue" of the day is and to that he replies:

"Our greatest issue is pseudo-liberalism. It is false liberalism, fake liberalism, phony liberalism, liberalism masquerading as liberalism, the pretended pursuit of liberal ends by means which lead in the opposite direction. In other words, we are to have liberalism or we are to have a wretched counterfeit in the form of state paternalism...."

No one has said it better. This thing that the young people nowadays call "neo-liberalism" is pretty tough going if you try to understand it, because what they seem to want is to give up the liberties they have for a security that no one can give them in order to attain the same liberties which they gave up in the first place.

If you can understand what they mean, you are smarter than most because the fact is that when the "neo-liberals" are pinned down, the conversation becomes debased into defining what their grandfathers understood clearly.

Again I quote Professor Knight who says:

"...Liberalism is essentially an attempt to solve the greatest of all 'minority' problems the plight of the individual person in a world organized or disorganized by human institutions...."

Then he adds:

"...Liberalism (the true, old-fashioned kind) tries to retain its useful results while minimizing on you. The primary postulate of liberalism is freedom of the individual for self-development and self-expression...."

Good definitions, those! And a father whose son or daughter shocks him with queer notions might ask the young ones to try their hands at upsetting the old professor.

Charles Kettering, the inventive genius of General Motors, made a similar point in a recent talk when he said that progress cannot be made if one tries to reach a certain point. To progress, you just have to keep moving and each move changes the perspective somewhat. It is like driving on a country road with an unobstructed view in front.

It all keeps changing but as long as you stay on the road, you're moving in the right direction.

The professor puts it a little differently. He says:

"...We cannot make progress, enlarge personal freedom, except by conserving what we have and building on it...."

Now, this professor is not an old fogey by any means but he is situated in one of those American colleges in which the neo-liberals play their illogical games that sound so good to immature minds and he hits out at them with a terrific wallop where it hurts most, because he laughs at them. And neo-liberals dislike being laughed at because they take themselves so seriously.

Thus, they love fine phrases, which they spend hours inventing. Such a phrase is "the welfare state." Now, if they called it socialism, we would vote against Norman Thomas and let it go at that. But the word, welfare, is such a beautiful word and it can be found in the Preamble of the Constitution. It is a nicer word than charity according to the neo-liberals, and much better than a son recognizing a moral obligation to care for an aged parent.

So they invent the phrase, "the welfare state," and then object to anyone trying to define it in clear language. What is it and how much does it cost? It is terribly impolite to ask such questions — and there you are, bringing in figures again! The professor points to the fact that the neo-liberal loves Deals as he puts it "square, new and fair, not to mention raw. One aspect of dealing which he (the liberal) prefers to overlook is the fact that the dealer takes something which is not his and redistributes it among a larger number of voters.

Frankfort Couple To Be Honored

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mallow, Sr., are being honored Sunday, February 5, on their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home in Frankfort, between the hours of two and six in the afternoon.

Open house is being planned by their grandchildren, Miss Lillian M. Smith and Mr. J. B. Mallow, Jr.

Married on February 4, 1890, in Cincinnati, the Mallows have one daughter, Mrs. Eula J. Smith, wife of the late Dr. W. B. Smith, and one son, Adam G. Mallow, both of Frankfort.

Mrs. Mallow is the former Nan-nie James, daughter of Strawder and Rebecca James, and Mr. Mallow is the son of A. G. and Jennie Galbraith Mallow.

Both families have resided in and near Frankfort since the early 1800's. The many friends and relatives of the honored couple in this community are being extended a cordial invitation to call between the hours announced.

Highley—Miller Wedding Vows Read Oct. 20

Mr. C. F. Highley is announcing the marriage of his daughter, Miss Marcia Rea Highley to Mr. Robert D. Miller, son of Mr. Homer Miller.

The wedding was an event of October 20, 1949, in Corinth, Kentucky, in the First Christian Church with the minister, Rev. William Davis, reading the double ring ceremony.

The petite and attractive bride chose for her wedding a street length dress of poudre blue wool crepe, with seed pearls trimming the high neckline. Her hat was of poudre blue taffeta with matching veil and she carried accessories of the same delicate shade of blue. A beautiful corsage of white roses was pinned at her shoulder.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Miller are graduates of Washington High School. Mr. Miller has been engaged in farming since graduation and Mrs. Miller has held the position of assistant secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association the past several years.

The popular young couple will be at home to their many friends in their newly remodeled home on the Wildwood Road after the middle of February, following a honeymoon trip.

Dinner Precedes Class Meeting

The members of the Shepherd's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, with a good attendance present, assembled at the home of Mrs. Jeanette Lindsay, Tuesday evening, for the annual covered dish dinner.

Tables seating the group for the sumptuous meal were centered with arrangements of red carnations and valentine suggestions were carried out in the added decorations. Rev. Francis T. McCarty gave the invocation before the members were seated.

Later, Mr. Kenneth Chaney, class president, conducted a short business session, during which the regular reports were read and accepted, and special reports of 71 calls made on shut-ins during the past were made.

The class voted to purchase new front doors for the church and 18 new hymnals. Miss Mabel Briggs gave a splendid report on clothes and furniture that had been received for the "Displaced Families" that are soon to arrive. The business session closed with prayer by Rev. L. B. Rogers.

Devotionals for the evening were led by Mrs. Lindsay, who used as her subject, "Stewardship Starts At Home." Her scripture reading was taken from the fourth chapter of John, and she also read an interesting article on the subject. Miss Metta Graves, as program chairman, conducted a "Be My Valentine" contest and two Bible contests.

Mrs. Lindsay was assisted in the hospitalities during the evening by Mrs. Darrell Babb, Mrs. Ernest Brookover and Mrs. Howard Burnett.

Spread grapefruit halves with honey and broil slowly until thoroughly hot; garnish with maraschino cherries and serve either as a first course or for dessert.

Guests Included With Members of Kensington Club

Mrs. Forest Tipton extended the hospitality of her home on Tuesday afternoon to the members of the Tuesday Kensington Club.

Arrangements of pink snapdragons and carnations were admired in the living room and on the dining table where the hostess seated her guests for a most tempting dessert course and was assisted in the serving by Mrs. F. D. Woollard.

The afternoon, as usual, was spent in informal visiting and in additions to the members, the hostess included Mrs. Arthur J. Burgett, of Fairborn, an out-of-town member, and Mrs. Charles Benham of Stillwater, Minnesota, as guests.

Campfire Girls Hold Meeting

The Luta Campfire Girls met at the home of their guardian, Mrs. A. H. Finley Tuesday after school. The meeting opened with the theme song "Nature Hymn".

Sarah Core president, presided over the business session, during which the usual reports were read and accepted. Roll call was responded to with Indian names. The girls worked on Valentines and discussed a new project. Plans were made for the girls of Wood Gatherers and Fire Makers rank to furnish refreshments for the next meeting.

The business session closed by giving the Lord's Prayer and singing the "Campfire Laws". Patsy Cutlip, Ann Sheppard and Sandy Rose who have earned the Trail Seekers rank, were hostesses and served cookies, Coca-cola and fudge.

Personals

Mrs. Robert Miles and daughters Lynn and Beth returned to their home in Middletown Tuesday after a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker and their children Gretchen and Damon.

Mrs. Claude L. Post and Mrs. Hugh Kennedy of Columbus spent Tuesday as the guests of their mother Mrs. C. V. Lanum.

Mrs. Karl Bender left Tuesday for Philadelphia, Pa. to spend the coming week with Mr. Bender who is associated there with the Towle and Son Metal Products Company.

Mrs. Truman Griswald has returned to her home in Dayton after a few days visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith.

Mrs. Charles Benham of Stillwater, Minnesota is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Farquhar, she expects to remain for a week.

Mrs. F. D. Woollard left Tuesday for Newark to visit for a few days with Dr. and Mrs. John Chynoweth and family.

Mrs. Sherman Bishop and daughters, Mrs. Ruth Paxton and Mrs. Ethel Wilkin were in Columbus Tuesday to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Bishop's sister, Mrs. R. A. Davenport, who was a former resident of this city.

Mrs. Heber Roe has returned from South Bend, Indiana where she spent the past two weeks as the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. E. Swank and Mr. Swank. Mrs. Swank accompanied her home and will remain for a ten day visit.

Miss Cindy Harper returned to her studies at Miami University, Oxford, after a short semester vacation with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Harper.

Newly-Weds Return From Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root who were married on New Year's Day, have just returned from their honeymoon through the southern states and are at home to their friends at their newly furnished apartment on North Main Street, New Holland. Mrs. Root the former Rhoda Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Hayes of New Holland, and Mr. Root's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Root of Hamilton Street New Holland.

Their marriage took place in the Second Church of God in Springfield, as the hands of the clock approached twelve noon. With Rev. Carl E. Reynolds officiating at the double ring ceremony. The bride wore for the occasion a navy blue suit, with blue and white accessories and her corsage was pink roses. Her attendant Miss Patty McDonald was wearing a grey suit with dark navy accessories, and a corsage of red rose buds. Mr. Joseph H. Gooley Jr. was best man for the groom. A reception following the wedding was held at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hayes in Springfield.

Potato Surplus Tough Problem

Destruction Looms If No Use Found

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan proposes to destroy around 50,000,000 bushels of surplus potatoes unless Congress instructs him to make some other disposition of them.

This is the quantity of surplus potatoes the department figures it will be unable to dispose of through give-away programs to domestic and foreign relief agencies, the school lunch program, and diversion to livestock feed and manufacture into starch.

The potatoes are being bought by the department at prices averaging about $2 for 100 pounds under a price support program.

Brannan told the Senate Agriculture Committee the department would "dump" the potatoes "by simply permitting them to remain in the areas where they are produced." He said that was the cheapest way to do it.

Senator Anderson (D-NM), a committee member and former secretary of Agriculture, put the blame for the situation on Congress. He urged that Congress either (1) let the department control output by limiting the number of bushels that can be produced or (2) drop the potato price support program.

Restrictions Criticized

Anderson contended the present acreage limitation authorized by Congress is unworkable because farmers simply grow more potatoes for each acre.

The National Potato Council, in a telegram to committee chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.), protested the dumping plan. The council said the plan would "place the entire farm program in an untenable position insofar as public opinion and good will are concerned."

As an alternative, the council suggested that the government ship the potatoes to industrial users.

The surplus potatoes could be used for making alcohol, but processors would take them only if the government paid the freight from areas of production to plants. That would cost the government about $15,000,000 in excess of the purchase price.

The department will continue to offer the potatoes to relief agencies free of charge, at point of storage, as long as there is a demand for them.

It also will continue to offer potatoes for commercial export at one cent for 100 pounds, sacked, at points of storage.

Latest estimates indicate the government may lose upwards of $100,000,000 on surplus potatoes from last year's crop. It lost close to $250,000,000 on the 1948 crop.

Gordon Has Had Many Winners

A. G. Gordon (above) is an old timer when it comes to harness racing. He has been training and dealing with harness horses for several years. In the photo he is shown just after a few whisks around the Fayette County Fairgrounds track with Bud Song (above) a green two-year-old trotter. Bud Song was a little frisky to stand still for the camera but Gordon held him steady. Other horses trained at the Gordon stable include Rose Song, a three year old trotter; Memorial Song, a five year old pacer, Edna Naylor, a six year old pacer; Billie M. Naylor, a two year old green pacer and Brown Command, a four year old green pacer.

Edna Naylor, with a 2:04 2/5, has one of the best times for horses from the Gordon stable. Rose Song has a 2:07 and Memorial Song a 2:09, all recorded at Lexington, Ky. Gordon has trained many fast horses but his best was Tim S, a trotter, whose 2:02 1/4 record was an outstanding time for a trotter. Experts say Tim S was one of the best trotters to ever come out of Fayette County.

Daughter of Former Resident To Appear with Bary Ensemble

When the Bary Ensemble appears here Thursday night as the second performance of the Concert Series, longtime residents of the community will have a chance to renew acquaintances with the parents of one of the ensemble's members.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Martin of Wilmington, whose daughter Marilyn Martin is a flutist with the group, plan to be in the audience Thursday night along with several of their Wilmington friends.

Those who have lived in this community for a number of years will remember C. C. Martin in connection with the old Record-Republican. Some 25 years ago Martin worked in the business department of this semi-weekly paper, which was later merged to form the present Record-Herald.

His daughter Marilyn was born

Screening of Applicants Is Started Here

Screening started today on more than 100 applicants to the nurses' aide program, scheduled to be started here soon.

Miss Christine Evans, consultant and administrator of the new Fayette County Memorial Hospital, said only 14 or 15 of the applicants could be accepted for the program.

Two news articles which appeared in the Record-Herald in regard to the program brought such a response that no further applications are being accepted at this time, Miss Evans said.

Actual training of those selected to take part in the program will take place in Memorial Hall, second floor. Beds and other equipment are being set up there for training purposes.

Mrs. Caroline Shaper, a registered nurse, will do the instructing in the nurses' aide program.

She, Miss Evans and other registered nurses are screening the applicants to pick those who will take part in the training course.

Those who complete the course will be engaged at the Fayette County Memorial Hospital at scheduled hourly wage rates.

Ohio Farm Co-op Executive Is Speaker Here

Talks to Rotarians On Agriculture's Growing Efficiency

Speaking on the subject of "The Relation of Farmers' Business Facilities in the Community to Other Business," before Rotarians and guests at the club's Tuesday luncheon at the Country Club, Walter L. Bluck stressed the importance of farm co-operative activities and their rights under the federal income tax laws.

Bluck is the executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Farm Co-ops. He is well known to many in this county having been the agricultural extension agent in Clinton County for many years. He was introduced by W. W. Montgomery, agricultural extension agent in Fayette County.

Calling attention to the fact that farm land values and agricultural production have made great progress in the last century, he pointed out that good land in Fayette County had been valued at $17 an acre in 1850 as compared with an average of $104.29 per acre in 1945. He told of the tremendous advances made in purchasing and in use of farm machinery to create huge production in this state in spite of the fact that only 12 percent of Ohio's population is on the farm.

In the nation, Bluck declared, power machinery used on the farm is now developing more than 750,000,000 horsepower, many times that of all other industry combined.

Bluck explained why it has been necessary for farmers to integrate their industry the same as other large industries are doing. This, he said, enabled them, by working together in organized efforts of buying and selling, to accomplish much more for the farm industry than could be done by individual and unorganized effort.

Co-ops And Taxes
The speaker dwelt at some length on the reasons for non-profit co-operative organizations not being subject to federal income tax. He stated that while 87 percent of the country's agricultural lands belongs to individuals, the farmers, by reason of the co-operative movement, have been able to do the same thing that many other big industries have been doing in pooling their buying power and getting together the individual small investors into non-profit organizations.

Ohio Congressman Gets Real Economical

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 —(AP)—Rep. Brehm (R-Ohio) proposed today a "cut everything" method of budget balancing, even to the cutting of congressmen's pay.

Brehm inserted his proposal in the congressional record. "I refuse to support any peacetime budget unless it is a balanced budget brought about by economy in government," Brehm said.

tions through which any profits gained goes back to the investors through stock or other dividends.

He said that many other industries have followed the same practice in their buying and other operations. By this method corporate federal income taxes do not have to be paid by the co-operative organization although the farmers who receive stock dividends from the profits of the cooperative transactions, must pay tax on such dividends.

He quoted from a federal government instruction pamphlet on income taxes as follows:

"Farmers who market produce through a cooperative should add to the sales price of the produce, or to ordinary income, any patronage dividends received in the taxable year as a result of such transactions. Farmers who buy, through a cooperative, implements, gasoline, seed, fertilizer, or other items for use in their business should either reduce their deductions for such items by the amount of patronage dividends received or add patronage dividends to income. Patronage dividends received as rebates for purchases of items not used in your business should be omitted from your tax return. Patronage dividends are considered paid to you when remitted in cash, merchandise, stock certificates, or when credited to your account."

Asked Closer Cooperation
At the close of his talk Bluck made a strong plea to keep the farmer in a competitive relationship in business and for more cooperation between farmers and farm organizations with other business groups and elements of the nation's population.

President Paul Pennington expressed the club's thanks to the speaker for his informative talk.

President Pennington also announced that Cleo Dawson, of Lexington, Kentucky, noted woman lecturer and educator would be the speaker at the club's Rotary Ann dinner party on Monday evening, February 13. She comes highly recommended for her work in the field of international relations.

Howard D. Fogle introduced the new Junior Rotarian, Vern Marshall. The outgoing member of this group was Dick Hodson, who made a brief but well presented talk in thanking the club for his past two week's membership.

Former Ohioan Dies Of Polio In England

KENTON, Feb. 1 —(AP)—The parents of a former Kenton woman received word of their daughter's death from polio yesterday as they were leaving here to fly to her bedside in London, England.

Mrs. W. W. Bowman, 32, wife of Colonel Bowman of the air force, died yesterday in an army hospital in London. She was stricken with polio last Wednesday.

Meningitis Case Is Fifth for Boy

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)—Little Johnny Cavallieri, not yet three years old, already has won his fifth battle over meningitis. Doctors at Children's Hospital, where Johnny is convalescing, said they doubted if medical literature listed any individual who suffered as many as five attacks of this severe disease.

Meningitis is an infection affecting the central nervous system. It involves the spinal fluid in the membrane surrounding the spine and brain. Doctors say that while one attack of meningitis doesn't make a person immune from another, it is rare when a person suffers a second attack.

Lower-Priced Hudson shatters old notions of value!

"Step-down" designed Hudsons leaders in resale value! Let us show you, in figures from Official Used Car Guide Books of the National Automobile Dealers Association, that Hudson is a leader in resale value, coast to coast!

- Most Room
- Best Ride
- Safest
- Biggest Dollar Value!

That's the New Pacemaker

HERE'S THE CAR that's turned the tide . . . the car that returns the greatest-ever value for the dollars you invest!

The new, lower-priced Pacemaker is a car you instantly see is the most beautiful of them all!

Free-flowing, low-built design telegraphs the fact that it has the lowest center of gravity in any American automobile. And you know instinctively that, as a result, the thrilling Hudson Pacemaker hugs the road more tenaciously and is therefore America's safest, best-riding car!

You quickly see, too, that this new member of the Hudson family has full road clearance, and more head room than in any mass-produced car built today—thanks to "step-down" design with its recessed floor.

And amazing head room is only one kind of interior spaciousness that's yours to enjoy in the new Pacemaker.

Through "step-down" design and ingenious use of space that is wasted in other makes of cars, this compact automobile of normal exterior width brings you seat cushions that are up to 12 inches wider than those in cars of far greater outside dimensions!

There's an extra dividend for you, too, in the brilliant, new high-compression Pacemaker engine . . . a lightning-like performer with saving ways.

You are invited to see and try the Pacemaker. This new, lower-priced Hudson will revise all your ideas of motor-car value!

WHS Cubs Draw Buford in SCO Tournament Starting This Saturday

The WHS Cubs have drawn Buford junior high as their first opponent in the first annual South Central Ohio League's junior high tournament.

Coach Fred Pierson's boys are scheduled to take the court at 3 P. M. this Saturday against Buford, sandwiched in-between seven other games in the Greenfield McClain gym.

With sixteen teams in the competition, eight will be eliminated from the tourney Saturday.

The quarter-finals will be played Wednesday, February 8, with the first game scheduled for 6:30 P. M. The semi-finals, when just four teams will be left, are set for Saturday, February 11, with games at 2 and 3 P. M.

Commercial Loop Race Is Tightened

Although the Kaufmen today continued to lead the Commercial League, it was the leadoff man for the lowly Farm Bureau team who took the spotlight in Tuesday night's bowling at Bowland.

The Kaufmen held the No. 1 spot when they won the last game of their match with the second place Mark Constructors after dropping the first two.

The Farm Bureau boys, who occupy the league cellar, won one game before the Sunlights got the range of the headpin. Wehr, lead-off man for the Farm Bureau, went over 200 in each of his last two games in piling up a 624 total, but even that couldn't bring his team up to match the Sunlights after they got hot.

The Brown & Brockmeyer crew and Cudahy Packers each won their last two games after dropping the openers to Carroll Halliday's boys and the Helfrich Marketeers.

Fat Scores Rolled In Implement Loop

The bowling alleys at Bowland today were almost smoking from the scorching scores and competition in the Implement League Tuesday night.

Three individual scores went over the 600 mark and in one match there was a difference of only one pin in total scores.

Sons Grillers moved into the top spot—from a tie with the Warner Servicemen—by making a clean sweep of their match with the VFW. Bob Carmen turned in a 618, with a high game of 234, for the Grillers.

The Servicemen dropped two games to the Wackmen in spite of the 634 total racked up by Bill McLean with games of 235, 158 and 241. Gorman's 613 total with games of 171, 245 and 197, was largely responsible for the Wackmen's two-game victory. At the end, only one pin separated the two teams—without handicaps, Servicemen 2619 and Wackmen 2618.

Lion Cagers Can Scramble SCO Rankings

The WHS Blue Lions can throw the whole SCO League standings into a scramble if they beat Circleville this Friday night.

The Lions got a day off Monday after a strenuous weekend and went through their first drills Tuesday in preparation for the coming battle with the Tigers.

The Reserves were likewise working hard, with Coach Ronald Guinn intending to have his players spend plenty of time at the foul line this week to cover up a big weakness.

Circleville is tied with Greenfield for first-place in the SCO with a record of four wins and one defeat. Circleville's loss was administered by Greenfield, while the latter was stunned by the oft-beaten Hillsboro Indians.

The Lions stand a good chance of pulling a "Hillsboro" on Circleville. In their last meeting, the Lions lost to the Tigers by the small margin of four points, 41-37, and have become much stronger since.

Coach Steve Lewis drilled his team Tuesday on flexible defense tactics, in an attempt to cope with any offense the team may meet.

Meanwhile, the boys alternated on the gym floor, tossing up endless foul shots to overcome the hex of the moving basket that has cost them dearly in competition this season.

The Reserves also worked on the foul line and were smoothing up a new double-pivot to include in their offensive repertoire.

Rolling in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., league recently, a team hit 757-757. The opposition rolled 678 and 678 but spoiled the pattern by climbing to 763 in the final.

Bloomington Clips Atlanta In O'Time

In a desperately-fought game in which neither team would crack, the Bloomington Bulldogs edged Atlanta in an overtime period at Atlanta Tuesday night, 42-40.

Balance was the key to the Bulldogs victory as every man on the team contributed to the scoring that reversed an early-season defeat at the hands of Atlanta by the very same score, 42-40.

Bloomington led by a narrow margin in every quarter, but Atlanta rallied to tie it up at the game's end, 36-36. The overtime period was as close a battle, with the Bulldogs winding up two points better for the margin of victory.

Boldman and Cook led the Bulldogs, with 10 and nine points, respectively, while Fox and Blankenship got 12 apiece for Atlanta.

Eastside Batters Central, 34-15

After a layoff of two weeks, the Eastside youngsters returned to the Armory court with a resounding 34-15 win over Central Tuesday afternoon.

Eastside, last year's champs and the only dangerous threat to Sunnyside this year, chalked up their third win as they were led by Brown and Wilson, with 13 and 9 points, respectively.

Varney led the losers with seven points, as the loss gave Central a 2-3 record, dropping them within half a game of fourth-place Cherry Hill.

Coach Fred Pierson announced there will be no Elementary League game at the Armory Thursday, since the WHS Cubs the playing at home against Sabina at 4 P. M.

Pop Warner Award Presented to Lebaron

PALO ALTO, Calif., Feb. 1—(AP)—Eddie Lebaron, great little quarterback of College of the Pacific, received the first annual Pop Warner award last night. It was given him as the most valuable football player on the Pacific Coast last season.

In 1949, the American Bowling Congress reports, there were 311,053 bowling teams competing in 32,999 leagues, a new record.

Pirates to Pay $100,000 Bonus To 18-yr.-old High School Boy

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1—(AP)—Baseball's new bonus champion is 18-year-old pitcher Paul Pettit, who will get almost $100,000 from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In an unprecedented deal, Pirate General Manager Roy Hamer agreed yesterday to fork out that sum for the six-foot, two-inch, 205-pound southpaw who amazed observers with his twirling for Narbonne High School and American Legion teams. He's pitched six no-hitters.

The hundred grand transaction with a Hollywood twist, topping the $75,000 bonus given catcher

Buddy House by Detroit and the $50,000-plus which went to Johnny Antonelli of the Boston Braves, Dick Wakefield of Detroit, and one or two others, marks a new high price for a rookie.

What is young Pettit going to do with all that money?

"Nothing," he laughed, "I can't touch it until I'm 21."

But his father, George Pettit, a Long Beach night watchman, and movie producer Frederick Stephani, the prodigy's agent, will keep a careful eye on it.

Pettit will pitch for New Orleans this year, Hamer said.

SYNOPSIS

Beautiful Celia Dustin is missing on now perfect marriage as to her husband, Mark, a lucky gambler, when her pleasant mission, to be seemingly her first, is forgotten. Mark and the hotel bell captain, following which Mark drives her ostensibly to a new place for lunch. Mark has not forgotten, however, the "new place for lunch" turns out to be an exclusive jewelry store, where Celia chooses a $25,000 ruby bracelet as an anniversary present. Mark dismisses this as not good enough, and Walter Voorland, the manager of the establishment, with whom Celia has been in love and rubies an obsession, tries unsuccessfully to sell him on the bracelet.

CHAPTER FIVE

THE MANAGER signed and got unwillingly to his feet. "I am a poor salesman," he said apologetically. "No businessman should traffic in articles that are close to his heart. I have what you want, I hesitate to show it to you for fear you will buy it." He smiled shamelessly, like a small boy who had hidden a friend's toy and was forced to admit his guilt by producing it. "I will be but a moment." He turned away, munching his gum.

"Poor man," said Celia. "The way he feels about rubies is the way..."
"The way what?" asked Mark, the impish curls standing up and his mouth quirked at the corners.
"Well... the way a dog-lover is about running a pet shop," she said. "They want to keep every puppy that comes in."

"He acts like a nut," said Mark disgustedly. "How can he make any money in this business if he doesn't want to show his stock to a customer?"

Celia wanted rubies now, above all other gems. They were her stones. They were like her love for Mark. She said, quietly, "I think he's pathetic."

"He's probably honest," Mark admitted. "The way he's hipped on rubies I don't think he'd gyp a man on the price. That's one good thing about dealing with a man who tries to mix an artistic temperament with the profit motive," he added, lowering his voice as Mr. Voorland once more approached them.

The proprietor carried a square, hand-tooled leather gem casket between his two hands, holding it carefully as though it were a tray of over-lodged cocktail glasses. He set it down on the table and stood for a moment looking down at the closed case while he absently popped another stick of gum in his mouth.

He then seated himself and leaned forward to press a small golden knob on the front of the leather case. The top sprang up at the touch, and a round linked bracelet of beautifully fluted platinum was revealed against a background of blue velvet.

Six large pigeon-blood rubies were evenly spaced around the bracelet. They were truly impressive stones, and from the center of each ruby there radiated those six curious rays of light which mark the true asteria, the so-called "star" rubies.

Auto Dealer Sued
For Not Selling
Car for Rubles

EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 1.—
(P)—It's up to Common Pleas Judge Joel Sharp now to decide the case of the Russian rubles.
Mrs. Ruth Rayle of East Liverpool filed suit this morning for $1-275—American money—because she couldn't buy a car advertised in last Thursday's East Liverpool Review for 1,275 rubles—Russian money.

The ad was written by a Review advertising salesman in a humorous attempt to draw attention to the car.

It wasn't funny to Mrs. Rayle—she had 2,000 rubles which had been brought home from China star ruby, which occurs only rarely in rubies and in its sister gem, the sapphire, and in no other really precious stone.

Mr. Voorland settled back with both hands on his knees, narrowly studying Mark Dustin's face from beneath half-lowered lids. The westerner showed neither surprise nor approval as he looked at the bracelet. His face was as devoid of expression as that of the professional gambler who picks up a pat royal flush.

Celia was not so phlegmatic.
She squealed with delight and reached a hand out toward the bracelet, halted it as though frightened by her own audacity, then picked it up gently, impelled by some power beyond her strength to resist.

A tall man wearing loose gray tweeds and a dark snapbrim felt hat pushed far back on his forehead entered the store as Celia fondled the bracelet. He was broad-shouldered and lean-hipped, and had a lined face with bristling red eyebrows above keen gray eyes. His hands were big-knuck-led and rough, and he carried his weight with deceptively graceful ease.

A young, brown-haired girl had her hand in the crook of his arm and stood close beside him as he stopped inside the doorway to slowly survey the interior. She wore a yellow silk skirt and a white blouse with a ruffled neck and peats down the front. The crown of her shining brown head scarcely came above her compan-ion's shoulder. She looked gay and happy, as though it were springtime and she was in love for the first time. Her brown eyes danced with eagerness and she let her cheek gently touch the rough tweed of the man's coat.

The floor-walker started toward the couple, but the man saw Voor-land at the rear of the store and moved forward, shaking his head at the floor-walker. They came up to the seated trio without being noticed, and stopped beside the table to look down at the scene with interest.

Celia was slowly turning the bracelet around and around in her hands, her eyes riveted upon it.
Her husband was watching her face, a set smile on his lips.
Mr. Voorland was observing Dustin with appraising thoughtfulness while his big jaws worked methodically on the wad of gum between his teeth.

He was the first to look up. His expression changed immediately when he saw the couple standing there. He got to his feet and held out his hand, saying heartily, "Mike Shayne! And this is..."
He looked inquiringly at Shayne's companion.

"Miss Hamilton, my secretary from New Orleans," Shayne told him. "She has an allergy to pearls, particularly the simulated variety, and we brought along a string to trade in on something she does want."
